

ISSN: 3049-2017
 IJMH 2025; 2(6): 189-192
 © 2025 IJMH
 www.themultijournal.com

Received: 12-12-2025
 Accepted: 29-12-2025
 Publish : 30-12-2025

Biswajit majumdar
 Malda (West Bengal),
 Former student, Department of-
 English, Chhatrapati shahu Ji-
 Maharaj University, (Kanpur)

The Importance of Feminism in the Human Society

Biswajit Majumdar

Abstract:

This paper provides the overview of feminism rights revolts, requirement of women's equality in all world sectors. This paper acknowledges the struggles of women in history and various other activities undertaken by them in order to stand equal in par of men. It examines the works and importance of women in various field of development such as science, architecture and much more. The paper talks about how women in history were enthusiastic enough of disclose the difficulties they have faced for just being a woman and stood firmly to accomplish the subjective ascertain by them. Lastly, paper goes on discussing the progress of women. It demanded to be noticed in almost all countries of the world. It came out with many important rights which were essential for women to have for the overall growth and development of women. Development of women age tryly the development of the entire world. The main conclusion drawn from this research is that the feminist efforts were efficient in many ways in which they bought a huge change in the position and the role of women. They were able to remove the majority is not all the stereotypical pictures and to give her more importance in the society by giving her the political, social and economical rights.

Keywords: Feminism, Back ground of feminism, importance of feminism, equality.

Introduction:

This new research has revealed importance, necessity, the extent and the complexity of the concern to understand the sexual oppression, which is the core of feminism. Feminist movements have campaigned and continue to campaign for women's rights, including the right to vote, to hold public office, to work to earn fair wages, equal pay and eliminate gender pay gap, to own property, to receive education to enter contracts, to have equal rights within marriage and to have maternity leave. Feminist have also worked to ensure access to legal abortions and social integration to protect women and girls from rape sexual harassment and domestic violence. Changes in dress and acceptable physical activity have often been part of feminist movements.

The back ground of feminism has developed into vital field in the recent years as scholars from many disciplines and many countries explored the ways in which oppression, rights contributions has been represented, discussed and resisted in the past countries. This new research has revealed importance, necessity, the extent and the complexity of the concern to understand the sexual oppression, which is the core of feminism. This research work studies women suffering dehumanization and segregation by man. It deals is also with the efforts of feminism to change woman's oppression in the entire world and to ask for her equal rights and existence in all the domains. Feminism is not a simple way of reflection of the prevailing situation of the women nor is it a back ground of feminism is a general back ground of women, the study of feminism requires recognition of the new possibilities, potential changes and developments required to recognize the feminism goals. After a long suffering and discrimination of women to find limited recognized place in the society. She is now a days playing an important role in society as a politician, socialist is an economist.

Review of literature:

Rowland Chukwuemeka Amaefula has discussed the aspects of aspects of African feminisms to enhance the condition of African women (Amaefula, 2021). Sofian herouach has investigated students attitude towards the social status of Moroccan women. He has in the feminism female activism and international human rights may influence the cause

Correspondence:

Biswajit majumdar
 Malda (West Bengal),
 Former student, Department of-
 English, Chhatrapati shahu Ji-
 Maharaj University, (Kanpur)

of women liberation. But some factors such as religion patriarchy (an idea about sex differences that instructionalizes male dominance throughout a society), and marriage legislation could stand against the cause of female freedom (Herouach, 2019).

Bina Agarwal has given some basic ideas within ecofeminism:

- Domination and exploitation of nature has a connection,
- In patriarchal thought women are closer to nature but men are closer to culture,
- The domination and oppression of nature and of women have occurred simultaneously, and
- The feminist movement and the environment movement collaboration can create a more equitable and just society (Agrwal, 2007).

Haradhan Kumar Mahajan has ever day sexism, and sexual discrimination need to be needed of he believes that feminism challenges various reproductive rights, abortion rights, educational rights domestic violence maternal reproductive rights representation sexual harassment, gender discrimination, and sexual violence (Mohajon, 2020).

Objectives:

- To extract the background of feminism
- To understand the importance of feminism
- To evaluate feminism and women rights

Methodology:

To succeed the proposed study the descriptive, evaluative as well as comparative methods will be used and has been critically analysed as per the necessity of the study. The study also plans to use existing data on the issues involved mainly from secondary sources. After getting the data from secondary and online web portals, web based statistical records and paper articles and journals.

Result and Interpretation:

The background of feminism compares of the movements ideologies which have aimed at equal rights for women while feminists around the world have differed in causes, goals aims objectives and intentions depending on time, and country. Some other historians who talk about feminism limit the world have differed causes, goals; historians who talk about feminism limit the term feminist to the modern feminist movement and its progeny and use the level proto -feminist to describe earlier movements of feminism. Modern western feminist history is conventionally divided into three time periods, or waves each with different aims based on prior progress.

First -wave feminism of the 19th and 20th centuries discusses over turning legal inequalities specifically addressing issues of women's suffrage. First -wave feminism speaks of a period of feminist activity during the 19th century and early 20th century in the United Kingdom and the United States. Especially, it focused on the activism engaged primarily on attaining political power particular the right of women suffrage. Some feminist such as Voltairine de Cleyre and Margaret Sanget were still active in campaigning for women sexual reproductive and social and economic rights at this time. In 1854, Florence Nightingale established female nurse as addition to the military.

In Britain the suffragist campaigned for the women's votes in 1918 the representation of the people Act 1918 was passed which granted the vote to women over the age of 30 who owned houses. In 1928 vote to women was extended to call women over 21 in the United States leaders of this moment like all were firmly a wide range of women rights and aspirations some people such as Frances Willard belonged to conserva national woman suffrage association or individually American first wave feminism is considered to have ended with the passage of the 19th amendment to the United States constitution (1919) which granted women suffrage association or individually 19th amendment to United States constitution (1919). Which granted women the right to vote in all states.

Second -wave of feminism (1960s- 1980s) it involves cultural inequalities, gender norms, and the role of women in society. It talks about the period of activity in the early 1960s and lasting through the late 1980s. The scholar Imelda Whelehan says that the second wave was a continuation of the earlier phase of feminism involving the suffragettes women faced in the UK and USA second wave feminism has continued to exist since that time and coexists with third wave feminism also. Second -wave feminist saw women cultural economic and political inequalities and encouraged women to understand aspects of their personal life as deeply polarizes and as reflecting sexist power structures.

Third -wave feminism (1990s-2000s) third-wave feminism began in the early 1990, arising a response to failures of the second wave and also as response to the counterblast against initiatives and movements created by the second wave third -wave feminism tends to over emphasize the experience and activities of upper middle -class white women. Including women studies programs at universities some of the most important values of the third wave include gender equality, rights identity language sex positivity, breaking the glass ceiling body position ending violence against women fixing the media image of women and environmentalism.

The fourth wave it refers to phrase of feminism that begin around 2012. Its focus was on sexual harassment body shaming and rape culture social mobility, among other issues. A new wave arose a number of high profile incidents. Internet in the fourth wave is the platform where feminist ideas are exchanged, and where the actual struggle is waged. The gap between the movement leaders that is intellectual and the followers have collapsed. In these roles today have become interchangeable this is not only just a feature of the movement but an essential recruitment today.

Importance of Feminism Various Arenas:

Science Feminist have a number of distinct interest in science and developments. The tools of science have been a vital resource for understanding the nature, rules, impact, and prospects for changing gender-based forms of oppression. Scientific authority has frequently served to rationalize the kinds of social roles and institutions that feminists call into questions. Feminist perspectives on science therefore reflect a broad spectrum of epistemic attitudes towards learning science and appraisals of science.

Architecture: feminism has a powerful, long standing, influential effect on the development of architecture and urban design, although this is rarely acknowledged. Feminist ideas have contributed to changing architecture and its themes such as the designs and development of new building types; the engraving of collective memory of various interested topics; our changed attitude towards nature and beauty; and finally, women's culture, rights and identity as a legitimate design paradigm.

Business: feminist activities have contributed to start day range of feminist businesses, which includes feminist credit unions, feminist presses, women's Bookstores, feminist mail-order catalogues, and feminist firms and restaurants. These businesses flourished in second and third - waves of feminism in the 1970s, 1980s, and 1990s.

Visual Arts: the movement begins in the 1960s, where female artists are dealt with gender, social media and the notion of embodiment. The visual arts prove to be highly sensitive and interesting field for feminist. Feminists use posters, slogans, film, painting and photography to propagate their ideas and objectives. The relation between women and representation in visual culture makes women's especially powerful in relation to the visual at the feminist movement produced feminist fiction, non-fiction, and feminist poetry, which created new interest in women's writing. There has also a close link between feminist literature and activism, with feminist writing voicing key concerns or ideas of feminism in a particular era.

Feminism meant to have complex interactions with the major political movements in the 20th century. They claimed to recognize women's equality for participating in the feminism meant to have complex interaction with the major political movements in the 20th century. They claimed to recognize women's equality for participating in the political affairs of the country and demanded right to vote for women in order to elect their representatives. Women and representation in visual culture makes women's especially powerful in relation to the visual arts.

Literature: the feminist movement produced feminist fiction, non-fiction, and feminist poetry, which created new interest in women's writing. There has also a close link between feminist literature and activism, with feminist writing voicing key concerns or ideas of feminism in a particular era.

Politics: feminism meant to have complex interaction with the major political movements in the 20th century. They claimed to recognize women's equality for participating in the political affairs of the country and demanded right to vote for women in order to elect their representatives.

Conclusion:

Feminism history and study provides with the knowledge about the struggles and aspirations of women. It studies the importance of women and developments made by them in various world sectors. Women rights should be given utmost importance as it is considerate at human rights. The study confined within the boundaries such that it is not practical to give the conclusion upon the overall learning of feminism. By the coming of feminism, woman was able to take back her rights in addition to changing her negative image. Feminism proves that woman was capable to play important roles the same as man. Moreover, the most important goals of feminism were giving women her total freedom in addition to equal opportunities in the presentation of the political and social events. So, this article mainly tried to line out some essential points related to feminism as an idea, a belief and movement. It deals with the some different ideas related to this concept and more importantly focusing on the historical background of feminism, its different type and waves. It gives an overview of women's path in which they suffered a lot, they have been raped, killed and segregated. However, they were able to make, economical and political rights but rather by making her believe that she is human being who has the right to live, to marry, to vote, to say no when she wants. More importantly, those woman activists were able to make woman believe in her importance creature the same as man.

Suggestion:

The study is an attempt to understand feminism and related issues women faced in the world. The study is concise within the boundaries but there is a broad scope in carrying this study to the wider extent in order to analyse it in depth to understand feminism to its greater extent.

References:

- Habernas, Patriotism, feminist politics, and meaning of political action. Haraway, Donna, "a many fist of or Cyborgs." In feminism/postmodernism, edited by Linda J.
- Bailey Cathryn, (Hypatia1997): "Makings Waves And Draying Lines:" The Politics of Defining The Vicissitudes of Feminism.
 - Bennett, J.M. (London: Rutledge, 2006) "The Feminist His-tory Reader".
 - D'Eaubonne, F (Paris: Pierre Horay, 1974) " LeFeminismOuLaMort".
 - DuvergeMauricr, (Paris: University of Paris, 2010). "The PoliticalRoleofWoman".
 - Scott N.F. (Newhaven: YaleUniversityPress, 1987). "The Grounding of Modern feminism".
 - GilmanCharlottePerkins (1970). "New York: Source Book Press".
 - FriedrichEbbertStiftung. WomenInIslam: Feminism Orientation and Strategies for the 21stCentury Documentation.
 - Dusel Susan, (1987). "Government PutsThe Brakes on Women's Movement"Network Of Saskatchewan Women, Vol.4, No.7.Pp 65_70.
 - Yuval-Davis, N (2006) "IntersectionalityAndFeministPolitics", EuropeanJournalOfWomen Studies.

- Journal of the Punjab University Historical Society, Volume 31, Issues No.1.January-June2018.
 - Sapiro, 1993):“TheUseOfSymbolicWomen:AnEssayInOfMutay-Edelman“InPoliticalCommunication, Vol.10”.Nicholson, 190-231. London: Routledge, 1990.
 - LindaAlcoff,‘CulturalFeminismversusPost-Structuralism: ‘TheIdentityCrisesinFeministTheory’, Signs: Journal of Women In Cultural and Society, 13:3(1988)405-46.
 - Carol Giligan, In a Different Voice: Psychological Theory and Women’s Development (Cambridge, MA: Harvard University press, 1982);
 - Cf.Bernad Wiliams, ‘Morality and the Emotions,’ in Problems of the self (Cambridge: Cambridge University press, 1973)
- <https://www.britannica.com/topic/feminism>
<https://idea.org.au/learn/what-is-feminism/>
<https://www.history.com/topics/womens-history/feminism-womens-history>
<https://www.vox.com/2018/3/20/16955588/feminism-Waves-explainex-first-second-third-fourth>
<https://medium.com/@cassandrathng/the-importance-of-feminism-27aee593cf96>
<https://choma.co.za/articles/282/what-is-feminism-and-why-is-it-important>
<https://www.globalfundforwomen.org/womens-human-rights/>
<https://www.hrw.org/topic/womenS-rights>